To inaugurate this reform, or at any rate to protect those whose lives may be fully as valuable as that of the person whose name remains upon the minister or other person in charge of the scandal should at the present moment, briefly speak, excusing the spectator from removing their hats, and setting the example by resigning himself. The common sense of such a course will command it to every one, and Sirs, Usheran, the President, and Sirs, Osborne, the Colonies, State Bank of Health, are deserving of thanks for calling public attention to this matter.

THE AMERICAN MAIL.

The P. M. steamer Perry, with the American mail of the 15th inst., arrived last night. The following telegrams are from our San Francisco files:

WHY GLADSTONE WAS DOGGED BY CRAKE. LONDON, 13th May.

William Townsend, the man arrested in the character of a spy, and also accused of having designed to kill Prime Minister Gladstone, was arraigned on the first mentioned charge to-day. Townsend was also charged to-day with having sent a menacing letter to Gladstone, which was read in court. The letter is dated April 25th, and is as follows: "Do drop that cursed bill. Say something about the Polish. You have given me such a shock yesterday, looking cheerful and happy. I never had seen you before. Your appearance compelled me to raise my hat out of respect. I have been waiting for you since morning. After reading the newspaper Saturday I left home and wife at 11 a.m. and came to San Francisco to see you. I had no time to stand. If it had not been for my sudden revulsion of feeling nothing could have saved either of us yesterday. I could have fired six shots before anyone laid a hand on me. I will give you another chance. I have a strong opinion of your cleverness. I firmly believe that if you will it the bill will be withdrawn. So say so to Craze. His diary was lost, with all his correspondence, in the fire at the Bank of Ireland. But he has written many a day, being afraid of raising suspicion by making inquiries. There were five chambers, surely sufficient for both."

APRIL 25.—I saw Gladstone emerge from his residence. I was so surprised at his happy and cheerful appearance that I raised my hat. I hurried to the park, and had to wait for two hours."

The prisoner admitted that he had written to Craze, and had several times, in his diary, written about the Bank of Ireland. But he said, if by the taking of six-fifteen years and sixteen hundred, perhaps thousands of loyal Ulstermen will be saved. Surely, that will be sufficient justification. I shall look anxiously in to-morrow's papers for an answer."

But he said, if by the taking of six-fifteen years and sixteen hundred, perhaps thousands of loyal Ulstermen will be saved. Surely, that will be sufficient justification. The prisoner appeared greatly distressed, and said that he would revere his defence. He was committed for trial.

KOSUTH THINKS ANGELS ONLY WILLY DELIVER IRISHLAND.

LONDON, 13th May. The Roll Mail Gazette published yesterday with the venerable Hungarian statesman, Count Kosuth, in regard to Irish home rule. Kosuth said he wrote a memorandum years ago regarding Gladstone's first home rule scheme. The memorandum would be found among his papers after death. He declined to disclose it, but said the memorandum contains:

"As to Gladstone's proposal for Irish home rule," Kosuth continues, "I have very little idea of the real principle underlying it. I believe, however, that Gladstone will never arrive at his goal. The Irish question presents the same obstacles as the squaring of the circle. It is perfectly Utopian that Gladstone, to establish an autonomy of Ireland, should make the British colonies independent. The Times will probably soon be set at rest again by the announcement of the immediate return of the Prince and his daughters to join in the festivities attending the Duke of York's birthday. That these festivities, culminating in a magnificent midsummer wedding, will be the gayest London has seen for many years, is almost a certainty. It will be a great day for Ireland, and I should like to see it. If Ireland should one day throw herself into the arms of the United States to gain what she wants. The distance between the countries does not count to-day as it counted in the past. It has been said that the situation in Ireland is comparable to that of Hungary, yet the former is far more advanced than the latter in every way. My answer is that it is false. The Times has never conquered Hungary as the English conquered Ireland. Hungary merely made a pact with the house of Hapsburg for the sake of neighbourly association. Ireland, on the contrary, was conquered by the force of arms and compelled to submit to the will of England."

Kosuth, who is 91 years old, looks pale and wasted. He is sometimes confined by fits of convulsions, but still the old fir is in his eyes, which flash while he is talking. He will spend some time every day, writing in behalf of Hungary.

THE REPHOEB'S PLAN IN THE NEXT EIGHTH.

LONDON, 13th May. While reviewing the troops in the field at Templehof to-day the German Emperor ordered the principal officers of the Imperial Guards to gather around him, and addressed them as follows:

"I have been seriously disappointed in the plan of the late Reichstag. I hope that the coming Reichstag will be more successful in its efforts to carry out my decision. I told you my hopes when the bill was first proposed."

The Emperor's concluding words, in addressing his officers, were: "I have failed to do all that was necessary to carry out my decision. I told you my hopes when the bill was first proposed."

The officers maintained absolute silence, although they were evidently in deep sympathy with the Kaiser's views. A Leipziger man in German politics who has been a member of the Emperor's speech committee, said to me: "The Emperor would be able to risk a conflict with the Reichstag should it prove hostile to the bill."

The Emperor's concluding words, in addressing his officers, were: "I have failed to do all that was necessary to carry out my decision. I told you my hopes when the bill was first proposed."

A correspondent was assured officially this evening that the Emperor did not wish his speech to be a manifesto to the Reichstag, or to be a manifesto to the people. He said, however, that the Emperor's speech committee, in order to convey the sense of his determination to abide by his declarations. There is a profound and widespread impression that the Emperor would not hesitate to risk a conflict with the Reichstag.

Vienna, 8th May. A cable from Matz to a morning paper says: "The Emperor addressed a letter to the Bishop of Metz, in which he affirms fault with the attitude of the prelates introducing to the Pope a body of pilgrims from Lorraine. In his speech the Emperor told the Pope that the Catholics of Lorraine were grieved to see him a prisoner in the Vatican."

It is evident that the Emperor's speech committee, in addressing his officers, were: "I have failed to do all that was necessary to carry out my decision. I told you my hopes when the bill was first proposed."
